Places for Life

Laxton Properties is based in Berkhamsted, Hertfordshire and has been established since 2008.

The company is run by Giles Holder and Ed Whetham both of whom are chartered Planning and Development surveyors with extensive development experience in both the residential and commercial property sectors.

The company undertakes high quality residential developments mainly in Buckinghamshire and Hertfordshire and we pride ourselves on our professional approach to property development. The majority of our developments are local to our base in Berkhamsted, enabling us to closely manage the building process to ensure each house meets our high quality standards.

"We have been thrilled with our new house from Laxton Properties. The quality of the house is excellent and they have really put thought in to the design and specification. We are so pleased to be part of a new community in the village."

"I chose to sell my site to Laxton Properties because they are professional, trustworthy and competitive. Communication was easy and they did exactly what they said they would do."

Ian, landowner at St. Leonards
